IN collecting the materials for the following pages, the author has had recourse to Cook's Voyages, Stewart's Journal, Tour around Hawaii, Memoirs of Keopuolani, Stewart's Visit to the South Seas, and the Missionary Herald. Where the exact words of these authors are used to any considerable length, credit has generally been given, by double commas. Great pains have been taken to spell and divide the proper names according to the most recent rules given by the missionaries. The hints for pronouncing the language of the natives were prepared by one of the Secretaries of the American Board of Foreign Missions, and are worthy the attention of all who would read the Missionary Herald with ease and correctness.
