

Commendations
from Eminent Men & Women

*What A Young Boy
Ought to Know*

COMMENDED BY JUDGE BEN B. LINDSEY

The eminent Jurist and Reformer

JUDGE BEN B. LINDSEY,

The eminent Reformer and Jurist. Originator of Juvenile Court System. Recognized Authority on Juvenile Delinquency.

"I am tremendously interested in your publications. No more important work is being done for the youth of this Nation. Not only every boy, but every father and mother, who are burdened with the sacred responsibilities for the character of youth, ought to read your splendid little book: "What a Young Boy Ought to Know." My experience for nine years in the Juvenile Court has convinced me that one of the greatest difficulties we face is a lack of sympathetic and intelligent education along this line.

I have recommended your books to hundreds of young people and parents."

COMMENDED BY THEODORE L. CUYLER
The Eminent American Preacher and Author

THEODORE L. CUYLER, D.D.

The best living writer of devotional literature;
former pastor of Lafayette Avenue Church,
Brooklyn; author of "Christianity in the Home," "How to be a Pastor,"
"Stirring the Eagle's Nest,"
"Young Preacher," etc.

"Your admirable little book, 'What a Young Boy Ought to Know,' ought to be in every home where there is a boy.
You deserve the thanks of every parent
in the land."

COMMENDED BY CHAS. L. THOMPSON
The Eminent American Preacher

Pastor of the Madison Avenue Presbyterian Church, New York City; ex-Moderator of the General Assembly of the Presbyterian Church; President of the Open and Institutional Church League; Associate Editor of "The Open Church Magazine," etc.

"I want to tell you how much I appreciate your little book. It is, indeed, what boys ought to know—the failure to know which has been the cause of many sorrows and pains and penalties. Why was not this book written centuries ago? How prudish and false to human interests is the feeling which has kept this knowledge back. You have presented it with admirable delicacy and fidelity, and for one I thank you for it."

COMMENDED BY JUDGE GROSSCUP
The Eminent American Jurist

P. STENGER GROSSCUP

Judge U. S. Circuit Court of Appeals.

"I have always felt that in every phase of life the truth was cleaner and more wholesome than any suppressions of, or deviations upon, it. Doctor Stall's book on 'What a Young Boy Ought to Know,' falls in with this idea. The great secret of success, morally and physically, as well as socially and industrially, is to get near the truths of Nature and listen to her voices. This book brings the young man face to face with nature in her most interesting and important phases. I take pleasure in commending it to everyone."
