

ENGLAND FOR ALL.

BY

H. M. HYNDMAN.

DEDICATED TO THE DEMOCRATIC AND WORKING MEN'S CLUBS OF GREAT BRITAIN AND IRELAND.

London :

PRINTED BY GILBERT & RIVINGTON,
52, ST. JOHN'S SQUARE, E.C.

1881.

[All rights reserved.]

PREFACE.

IN this changeful period, when the minds of men are much troubled about the future, and many seem doubtful whither we are bound, I have attempted to suggest for the Democratic party in this country a clear and definite policy. The views expressed in this little work do not, I am aware, accord with the commonly received politics and economy of the day. Holding, as I do, strong opinions as to the capacity of the great English-speaking democracies to take the lead in the social reorganization of the future, I think it right to state them, and to show at the same time how seriously the working people suffer under our present landlord and capitalist system.

From the luxurious classes, as a whole, I expect little support. They have plenty of writers ready to champion their cause. To the people alone I appeal, and their approval will be my reward.

It was for the Democratic Federation that I originally wrote this book, and I present to its members the first copies to-day.

For the ideas and much of the matter contained in Chapters II. and III., I am indebted to the work of a great thinker and original writer, which will, I trust, shortly be made accessible to the majority of my countrymen.

H. M. H.

June 8th, 1881.

10, DEVONSHIRE STREET, PORTLAND PLACE,
LONDON, W.

CONTENTS.

	PAGE
INTRODUCTION	I
CHAPTER I.
THE LAND	7
CHAPTER II.
LABOUR	32
CHAPTER III.
CAPITAL	65
CHAPTER IV.
ORGANIZATION	88
CHAPTER V.
IRELAND	112
CHAPTER VI.
INDIA	131
CHAPTER VII.
THE COLONIES	152
CHAPTER VIII.
FOREIGN AFFAIRS	169
CONCLUSION	193