

6
5995
H¹/₃₈₁

A

HISTORY OF A CRIME

By VICTOR HUGO
Author of
LES MISÉRABLES

NEW YORK
HURST & COMPANY
PUBLISHERS

A

37-6026

PREFACE.

THIS work is more than opportune ; it is imperative.
I publish it.

V. H.

PARIS, October 1, 1877.

CONTENTS.

THE FIRST DAY—THE AMBUSH.

| CHAPTER | PAGE. |
|---|-------|
| I. "Security"..... | 1 |
| II. Paris sleeps—the Bell rings..... | 5 |
| III. What had happened during the Night..... | 7 |
| IV. Other Doings of the Night..... | 25 |
| V. The Darkness of the Crime..... | 27 |
| VI. "Placards"..... | 30 |
| VII. No. 70, Rue Blanche..... | 34 |
| VIII. "Violation of the Chamber"..... | 43 |
| IX. An End worse than Death..... | 54 |
| X. The Black Door..... | 55 |
| XI. The High Court of Justice..... | 58 |
| XII. The Mairie of the Tenth Arrondissement..... | 71 |
| XIII. Louis Bonaparte's Side-face..... | 94 |
| XIV. The D'Orsay Barracks..... | 97 |
| XV. Mazas..... | 108 |
| XVI. The Episode of the Boulevard St. Martin..... | 114 |
| XVII. The Rebound of the 24th June, 1848, on the 2d Decem- ber 1851..... | 124 |
| XVIII. The Representatives hunted down..... | 131 |
| XIX. One Foot in the Tomb..... | 140 |
| XX. The Burial of a Great Anniversary..... | 150 |

THE SECOND DAY—THE STRUGGLE.

| | |
|--|-----|
| I. They come to Arrest me..... | 152 |
| II. From the Bastille to the Rue de Cotte..... | 160 |
| III. The St. Antoine Barricade..... | 164 |
| IV. The Workmen's Societies ask us for the Order to fight. | 181 |
| V. Baudin's Corpse..... | 186 |
| VI. The Decrees of the Representatives who remained Free. | 191 |
| VII. The Archbishop..... | 200 |

| CHAPTER | PAGE |
|---|------|
| VIII. Mount Valérien..... | 216 |
| IX. The Lightning begins to flash among the People..... | 220 |
| X. What Fleury went to do at Mazas..... | 226 |
| XI. The End of the Second Day..... | 284 |

THE THIRD DAY—THE MASSACRE.

| | |
|---|-----|
| I. Those who sleep and He who does not sleep..... | 237 |
| II. The Proceedings of the Committee..... | 240 |
| III. Inside the Elysée..... | 248 |
| IV. Bonaparte's Familiar Spirits..... | 253 |
| V. A Wavering Ally..... | 258 |
| VI. Denis Dussoubs..... | 261 |
| VII. Items and Interviews..... | 262 |
| VIII. The Situation..... | 267 |
| IX. The Porte Saint Martin..... | 274 |
| X. My Visit to the Barricades..... | 276 |
| XI. The Barricade of the Rue Meslay..... | 281 |
| XII. The Barricade of the Mairie of the Fifth Arrondissement..... | 285 |
| XIII. The Barricade of the Rue Thévenot..... | 287 |
| XIV. Ossian and Scipio..... | 291 |
| XV. The Question presents itself..... | 299 |
| XVI. The Massacre..... | 304 |
| XVII. The Appointment made with the Workmen's Societies..... | 314 |
| XVIII. The Verification of Moral Laws..... | 319 |

THE FOURTH DAY—THE VICTORY.

| | |
|---|-----|
| I. What happened during the Night—the Rue Tiquetonne..... | 323 |
| II. What happened during the Night—the Market Quarter..... | 327 |
| III. What happened during the Night—the Petit Carreau..... | 341 |
| IV. What was done during the Night—the Passage du Saumon..... | 354 |
| V. Other Deeds of Darkness..... | 362 |
| VI. The Consultative Committee..... | 369 |
| VII. The Other List..... | 377 |