

Ä

BEHIND THE SCENES

IN RUSSIA.

BY

GEORGE CARRINGTON, B.A.,

ST. ALBAN'S HALL, OXON.

AUTHOR OF "COLONIAL ADVENTURES AND EXPERIENCES,"

"GREGORY HAWKSHAW," ETC., ETC.

LONDON:

GEORGE BELL AND SONS, YORK STREET,

COVENT GARDEN.

1874.

Ä

TO

MRS. ALFRED GATTY.

ABOUT six years ago, when I was almost in despair of ever seeing in print a production of my own pen, I posted, by some fortunate accident, a small packet of MSS., addressed to the Editor of "Aunt Judy's Magazine." Thus came to me my first literary earnings, after many years of apprenticeship. Since the appearance of the paper alluded to my pen has not often been idle, and I hope it has not been useless. I have actually arrived at the distinction of being called a dull fellow by the "Saturday Review!"

Gratitude alone would therefore be a sufficient excuse for this dedication, which, however, I cannot close without expressing my admiration of your writings, and of the good mark which you have made in English literature.

This dedication is therefore a twofold one. Firstly, to one whom I might almost venture to call my literary godmother, and, secondly, to "Aunt Judy," the children's friend.

Please accept also my thanks for much kind sympathy received on many occasions.

Carlsbad, August 3rd., 1873.

"Fungar inani munere."

Jan. 3rd., 1874.

CONTENTS.

PREFACE	Page ix
-------------------	---------

CHAPTER I.

FIRST IMPRESSIONS—RUSSIAN RAILWAY TRAVELLING.

First impressions—Haphazard travelling—Railway carriages—Watky—A Russian town—Pigs, Jews, and mud—A peasant village	8
-------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------	---

CHAPTER II.

RUSSIAN COUNTRY LIFE—SERF EMANCIPATION.

“The dumb people”—A “Tarantasse”—Dogs and wolves—A country house—Great heats in Russia—Russian arrogance—A peculiarity of the Russian language—The emancipated peasants—Despotism—Religion and morality—Bridge stealing	14
-----------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------	----

CHAPTER III.

MORE OF COUNTRY LIFE—THE GREEK CHURCH.

Male and female costumes—Domestic management—The Greek Church—“Maxima debetur”—A night watcher—Russian roads—Coachmen—Children—Anglo-mania—An anecdote—Pray don't mention it—Russian system of labour	26
-----------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------	----