IN submitting to the public a second edition of this work, the compiler is anxious to state, that with the view of obtaining the utmost accuracy, he ventured respectfully to address himself to the Venerable the Heads of Houses in the Universities, as well as to the Principals of those Colleges and Endowed Grammar Schools which come within the scope of his work, for that purpose. He now avails himself of this opportunity to return his most grateful thanks to a great majority of the Heads of Houses, and to nearly all the Principals of the several Colleges and Schools, for their kind and prompt assistance in furthering his object, not only by furnishing corrections and alterations, but by the supply of much valuable additional matter.

To Messrs. LEWIS and Co., the compiler is desirous of offering his thanks, for allowing the Seals of the different Colleges of Oxford and Cambridge (as used in their well-known topographical works), to embellish the present edition.

70, EUSTON SQUARE,
