PUBLISHED BY FISHER, SON, & CO., LONDON & PARIS.

NEW WORK, DESIGNED FOR A COMPANION TO "THE WOMEN OF ENGLAND."

On the 15th of January, 1842, in post 8vo.

THE DAUGHTERS OF ENGLAND;
THEIR POSITION, CHARACTER, AND INFLUENCE.

BY MRS. ELLIS.

---

THE ONLY ANNUAL FOR YOUNG PEOPLE.

With Sixteen Plates, tastefully bound, price Eight Shillings,
THE JUVENILE SCRAP-BOOK, 1842,
BY MRS. ELLIS,

Author of "The Women of England," "Sons of the Soil," &c.

N. B. A few copies of the two former volumes, edited by Mrs. Ellis, may still be had; 8s. each.

"A charming volume, admirably adapted to delight and instruct young people. It contains no fewer than sixteen Engravings, of a far higher order of merit than we have been accustomed to meet with in juvenile annuals."—United Service Gazette.

"The authoress of 'The Women of England' has here entered on a new walk—juvenile literature—of which she promises to be one of the brightest ornaments. The embellishments are of the highest order of art, and cannot but exercise a very salutary effect on the young mind."—Weekly Chronicle.

"It is embellished with a multitude of engravings, calculated to engage the attention of young people, to awaken inquiry, and to lead them to the contemplation of subjects likely to be beneficial in the developement of the reasoning faculties. The short, elegant, and moral effusions which it contains, are all from the pen of Mrs. Ellis, and she has succeeded very happily in blending amusement with instruction."—Liverpool Albion.

"As usual, a most instructive and very pretty volume, with embellishments well calculated to cultivate and improve the taste of the young of both sexes. No Annual of the present season will be perused with more satisfaction."—Polytechnic Journal.

"The work is at once calculated to delight the young, and to promote in them pure literary taste and high virtuous principles."—Bolton Free Press.

"This 'Annual' seems fitly associated with ideas of youth, loveliness, and affection. We are glad to meet Mrs. Ellis in it; and so, we are sure, will be youthful readers of all sorts."—Sheffield Mercury.

"The subjects are, from their nature and diversity, calculated to rouse that feeling of curiosity and inquiry in youthful minds, which leads them to possess themselves, in a pleasing manner, of information valuable in after life, and a chastening vein of the most kindly and virtuous feeling pervades the whole book. The illustrations are numerous, highly interesting, and valuable as works of art. We candidly acknowledge that though the work is intended for juvenile readers, we, who are 'children of a larger growth,' could derive both delight and information by its entire and careful perusal."—Liverpool Chronicle.

"Excellent prose, poetry, and embellishments are pleasingly combined, producing a literary gem suitable for presentation to young persons, and not unworthy the acceptance of persons of riper years."— Wesleyan Methodist Association Mag.

"The fair authoress of this rich gem has displayed her varied talents to great advantage. As a writer for youth, she highly excels in blending amusement with instruction in making rational pleasures the most attractive; and exalting those who enjoy them, in the scale of virtue."—Bath Journal.

"We are at a loss whether most to praise, the publishers or the author of this book, for it is no less prettily written than beautifully got up. It contains much instruction of a pleasing kind, given in the best spirit, and we are sure that the young who read will find their feelings softened and their hearts made better; while even to persons of mature age, it will not prove uninteresting or valueless."—Scotsman.

SIXTEENTH EDITION.

ELLIS'S (Mrs.) WOMEN OF ENGLAND, their Social Duties and Domestic Habits. One neat volume, cloth, 9s., silk, 11s. morocco, elegant, 15s.

"We know no volume better calculated to exercise a powerful, lasting, and beneficial influence. If we could have our own way, every family should order a copy of 'The Women of England.' Husbands, especially young Husbands, should buy it for their Wives; Fathers, for their Daughters; Brothers, for their Sisters."—Methodist Mag.

Uniform with "The Women of England."

ELLIS'S (Mrs.) SUMMER AND WINTER IN THE PYRENEES. By the Author of "The Women of England;" "Family Secrets," &c. &c. Cloth, 9s., silk, 11s., morocco, 15s.

"The work is full of interest, and we might go on quoting till we had reprinted almost the whole, without ever getting tired of our task; but we think what we have given sufficient to excite curiosity, and point out to the stay-at-home traveller, how he may enjoy, at his own fireside, 'A Summer and Winter in the Pyrenees.'"—Glasgow Argus.

"We now take leave of our Christian traveller, grateful for the pleasure which we enjoyed in perusing this most entertaining volume."—Dublin Statesman.

"A glowing and faithful portraiture of natural scenery and national manners, drawn with all the freshness and novelty inspired by an actual residence among them."—Edinburgh Advertiser.

"We have here a very excellent work from the pen of Mrs. Ellis, the popular authoress of 'The Women of England' and 'Family Secrets.' She has produced a delightful book, the great charm of which is the minuteness of her description of everything which she deemed worthy noticing during her tour. She dwells on nothing that is not in some degree novel to the English reader, and her remarks are so lively, and her relations so graphic, that she never fails to give a true perception of what had passed under her notice."—Liverpool Albion.

"A most charming book, full of agreeable chit-chat, and containing a mass of information which the 'traveller at home,' as well as the voyager abroad will, do well to read. It embraces those topics of general interest which come home to our feelings and habits."—Brighton Guardian.

"Mrs. Ellis is a poetess of no mean order, and the beautiful and magnificent scenes which she visited appear to have inspired her with that enthusiasm which can only be felt, in a high degree, by a poetic mind. Accordingly her descriptions are vivid, graphic, forcible, and fervid, and convey to the mind as accurate impressions as it is possible for the pen, unaided by the pencil, to do."—Liverpool Chronicle.

With Eleven Plates, elegantly bound, gilt edges, price 12s.

FAMILY SECRETS; or, HINTS TO THOSE WHO WOULD MAKE HOME HAPPY. By the Author of "The Women of England."

"To wish prosperity to such a book as this, is to desire the moral and physical welfare of the human species. May the authoress go on and prosper."

ELLIS'S (Mrs.) SONS OF THE SOIL. A Poem in Twelve Books; embellished with Twelve exquisitely-finished Wood Cuts; neatly bound and gilt, 10s. 6d.

ELLIS'S (Rev. W.) POLYNESIAN RESEARCHES during a Residence of nearly Eight Years in the Society and Sandwich Islands; forming a complete History of the South Sea Islands. Four vols. cloth, gilt edges, 24s.

"This is the most interesting work, in all its parts, we have ever perused."—Quarterly Review.

"They are replete with valuable and curious matter, descriptive of the South Sea Islands, and their Inhabitants."—Literary Gazette.

ELLIS'S (Rev. W.) Improved Edition of STEWART'S VISIT TO THE SOUTH SEAS; including Notices of Brazil, Peru, Manilla, Cape of Good Hope, and St. Helena. One volume, uniform with "Polynesian Researches," price 6s.

HISTORICAL—STATISTIC—AND DESCRIPTIVE.

BY JAMES S. BUCKINGHAM, ESQ.

"I have read a considerable portion of your work on America—my long residence in that country leading me to take a deep interest in whatever concerns the great republic—and I have found in it more general and varied information than in any of the numerous works on the same subject which have issued from the press. I am bound also to say, that, though I do not agree with you in all your views and opinions, they seem to bear the stamp of general impartiality and candour."

George Catlin, Esq., of New York, to Mr. Buckingham.

"My wife and myself, now residing in London, have read your very interesting Work on our native country, America, with peculiar satisfaction; inasmuch as the nature of my pursuits has led us to visit nearly all the places and institutions you have so vividly and so justly described in your pages. In reading them, we have been carried along by a feeling scarcely less vivid and less real than if we were fellow-travellers with you, and actually passing over the scenes you have so graphically described. I think you have brought to the Parent-Country, a very encouraging and just account of her Transatlantic Child, and this at a time when general and correct information is peculiarly desirable, to remove mutual prejudices, and to promote a fair and friendly understanding between the two Countries."
