

COLLECTION
OF
BRITISH AUTHORS
TAUCHNITZ EDITION.

VOL. 2019.

MRS. GEOFFREY.

IN TWO VOLUMES.

VOL. I.

"The fairest flower in the garden of creation is a young mind"—Sir J. E. Smith.

"Aristotle affirmed that beauty was better than all the letters of recommendation in the world!"

1323
ft

MRS. GEOFFREY

BY THE
AUTHOR OF "MOLLY BAWN."

COPYRIGHT EDITION.

IN TWO VOLUMES.

VOL. I.

LEIPZIG
BERNHARD TAUCHNITZ

1881.

The Right of Translation is reserved.

NX-522D

CONTENTS

OF VOLUME I.

	Page
CHAPTER I. How Geoffrey declares his Intention of spending the Autumn in Ireland	7
— II. How Geoffrey goes to Ireland; and what he sees there	13
— III. How Geoffrey's Heart is claimed by Cupid as a Target, and how Mona stoops to conquer	29
— IV. How Geoffrey and Mona enter a Cabin and see one of the Results of Parnell's Eloquence!	44
— V. How Mona betrays what makes Geoffrey jealous; and how an Appointment is made that is all Moonshine	63
— VI. How the mystic Moonbeams throw their Rays on Mona; and how Geoffrey, jealous of their Admiration, desires to claim her as his own	95
— VII. How Geoffrey and Mona fall into Strange Company; and how they profit by it; and how Mona, outstripping wicked Vengeance, saves a Life	119
— VIII. How Geoffrey and Mona plan a Transformation Scene	135
— IX. How Geoffrey and Mona diligently work up the Transformation Scene; and how Success crowns their Efforts	152
— X. How Mona, growing inquisitive, asks Questions; and how Geoffrey, being brought to Bay, makes Confessions that bode but Evil to his future Peace, and breed immediate War	160

	Page
CHAPTER XI. How Geoffrey returns to his Allegiance; how he discovers his Divinity deep in the Performance of some Mystic Rites within the cool Precincts of her Temple; and how he seeks to reduce her to Reason from the Top of an inverted Churn	172
— XII. How Geoffrey tells Home Secrets, and how Mona comments thereon—how Death stalks rampant in their Path—and how, though Geoffrey declines to “Run Away,” he still “Lives to Fight Another Day”	185
— XIII. How Mona proves herself Equal—if not Superior—to Dr. Mary Walker; and how Geoffrey, by a base Threat, carries his Point	199
— XIV. How Geoffrey writes a Letter that possesses all the Properties of Dynamite—and how Confusion reigns at the Towers	211
— XV. How Lady Rodney speaks her Mind—how Geoffrey does the same—and how Mona declares herself Strong to Conquer	222
— XVI. How Geoffrey and Mona enter the Towers—and how they are received by the Inhabitants thereof	237
— XVII. How Mona rises betimes—and how she encounters a Stranger amidst the Morning Dews	248
— XVIII. How old Sir George hated his First-born—and how he made his Will—and how the Earth swallowed it	257
— XIX. How Fate deals harshly with Mona, and how she droops—as might a Flower—beneath its Unkindly Touch	264
— XX. How Mona dances a Country Dance before a Hypercritical Audience—and how more Eyes than she wots of mark her Performance	272