Temptation. By RICHARD BAGOT. 2 vols. - 3960/61.

This is a drama and romance of Italian high life, by an author who is well known by a number of novels dealing with the Roman aristocracy.

Representative Men. Seven Lectures on the Uses of Great Men, Plato, Swedenborg, Montaigne, Shakespeare, Napoleon, and Goethe. By RALPH WALDO EMERSON. 1 v. - 3962.

This volume appears in the Tauchnitz Edition, with the special consent of Emerson's son, on the twenty-fifth anniversary of the great American essayist's death.

Susan. By ERNEST OLDMEADOW. 1 vol. - 3963.

This is the first book by Ernest Oldmeadow in the Tauchnitz Edition and is a romance of an exceptionally high order of humour. The chief incidents of the comedy take place in Sainte Véronique.

New Chronicles of Rebecca. By KATE DOUGLAS WIGGIN. 1 vol. - 3964.

A series of charming pictures from the life of a young American child who is already well known to, and a favourite with, many readers of the Tauchnitz Edition.

Her Son. By HORACE ANNESLEY VACHELL. 1 vol. - 3965.

Mr. Vachell's new story is a touching idyll, in which love and love's capacity for self-sacrifice form the leading theme.

Merry-Garden, and Other Stories. By "Q" (A. T. QUILLER-BOUCH). 1 v. - 3966.

This volume contains seven tales, full of the wholesome humour for which so many of Q's works are celebrated and all written in his best and inimitable style.

The Getting Well of Dorothy. By MRS. W. K. CLIFFORD. 1 vol. - 3967.

A pretty children's story, which forms interesting, moral, and easy reading for the little ones, especially those of the softer sex. The story takes place chiefly in Montreux and its beautiful environs.

Dead Love has Chains. By M. E. BRADDON. 1 vol. - 3968.

A stirring modern drama in which the evil effects of a faux pas on the part of the heroine lead to dramatic developments.

Itinerant Daughters. By DOROTHEA GERARD. 1 vol. - 3969.

This new story of modern English daughters—by an authoress already well known for her versatility in both plot and matter—is once more built on a highly original and happy idea.

The House of Defence. By E. F. BENSON. 2 v. - 3970/71.

A brilliant study of modern life in which the terrible effects of the laudanum habit are graphically described. The story reminds the reader of the author's work, "Paul."

Fräulein Schmidt and Mr. Anstruther. By the Author of "Elizabeth and her German Garden." 1 vol. - 3972.

The authoress, who knows and loves Germany almost as well as her own country, here paints a beautiful idyll. The heroine's bearing, inwardly and outwardly, is beyond all praise.

The Passing of the Third Floor Back, and Other Stories. By JEROME K. JEROME. 1 vol. - 3973.

Mr. Jerome—a prime favourite among modern humourists—has here given us a collection of six tales, the first of which is written in a mystical vein.
