

Some Press Notices of
HUMAN IMMORTALITY

By WILLIAM JAMES

Professor of Philosophy at Harvard University

“Professor James is well known as one of the most suggestive and original writers, and as certainly the most brilliant psychologist living. Whatever, therefore, he has to say on this subject is worth listening to; for he thinks freely, and he knows all that the scientist knows, and more too.”—The Spectator.

“Deserves the attention of every one interested in the subject.”—Scotsman.

“He stands forward as the chief philosophical champion of belief in religious ideas. Hence all that he writes deserves (as it receives) very close attention.”—Jewish Chronicle.

“A weighty contribution to a subject of pressing interest. It is long since we have come across a book which packs into such small compass so much fresh and luminous thought.”—Glasgow Herald.

INGERSOLL LECTURESHIP

*Extract from the will of Miss Caroline Haskell
Ingersoll, who died in Keene, County of Cheshire,
New Hampshire, Jan. 26, 1893.*

First. In carrying out the wishes of my late beloved father, George Goldthwait Ingersoll, as declared by him in his last will and testament, I give and bequeath to Harvard University in Cambridge, Mass., where my late father was graduated, and which he always held in love and honor, the sum of Five thousand dollars ($5,000) as a fund for the establishment of a Lectureship on a plan somewhat similar to that of the Dudleian lecture, that is—one lecture to be delivered each year, on any convenient day between the last day of May and the first day of December, on this subject, "the Immortality of Man," said lecture not to form a part of the usual college course, nor to be delivered by any Professor or Tutor as part of his usual routine of instruction, though any such Professor or Tutor may be appointed to such service. The choice of said lecturer is not to be limited to any one religious denomination, nor to any one profession, but may be that of either clergyman or layman, the appointment to take place at least six months before the delivery of said lecture. The above sum to be safely invested and three fourths of the annual interest thereof to be paid to the lecturer for his services and the remaining fourth to be expended in the publishment and gratuitous distribution of the lecture, a copy of which is always to be furnished by the lecturer for such purpose. The same lecture to be named and known as "the Ingersoll lecture on the Immortality of Man."

INGERSOLL LECTURESHIP
