On page 42 of "No and Yes," Mrs. Eddy wrote, "The divine Spirit supplies all human needs." This is a very positive statement, which, if taken literally would justify everyone in ceasing all effort to help himself; he could reason that since the divine Spirit supplies all human needs, his would be supplied without any effort on his part.

I have reason to know from the sad experience of many that they have so understood the above statement and are patiently waiting, waiting, in poverty, and almost in despair, trying to have blind faith in this statement or similar ones; and unable to understand why Spirit, God, does not fulfill these promises. After waiting almost a lifetime for divine Spirit to act, is it any wonder if these dear sufferers are tempted to
